

Fifty Days on Board a Slave-Vessel in the Mozambique Channel: In April and May, 1843 (Classic Reprint)

By Pascoe Grenfell Hill

Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Fifty Days on Board a Slave-Vessel in the Mozambique Channel: In April and May, 1843 H. M. S. Cleopatra, of twenty-six-guns, commissioned by Capt. C. Wyvill, in April, 1842, having received orders to proceed to the Cape of Good Hope station, and to convey Lieut. General Sir William Gomm to Mauritius, of which Island Sir William had been recently appointed Governor, sailed from Spithead in the latter part of July, and arrived at Rio Janeiro on the 6th of September. I was then in the Malabar, of seventy-four guns, Capt. Sir George Sartorius, lying at Rio, and took advantage of the opportunity which the kindness of Commodore Purvis, senior officer on the station, afforded me, of getting transferred from that ship to the Cleopatra. The unrivalled magniificence of Rio harbor, narrow at the entrance, but spreading into a circumference of seventeen leagues; its hundred islands; the mountains which inclose it, showing every change of outline, covered with the richest verdure from the shore to their summits; the higher mountains beyond, which bound the view, mingling...

READ ONLINE
[8.33 MB]

Reviews

The publication is easy in read through safer to comprehend. It is actually loaded with wisdom and knowledge Its been printed in an extremely simple way and is particularly simply right after i finished reading through this pdf where actually modified me, affect the way i believe.

-- Ms. Clementina Cole V

This is the very best publication i have got read until now. It is definitely simplified but shocks within the fifty percent of the pdf. You may like how the article writer create this pdf.

-- Rosario Durgan